

Prof. Dr. Mahendra Pal launched Narayan Consultancy for Free Expertise in Veterinary Mycology to Poor Resource Countries

Professor Dr. Mahendra Pal, an internationally renowned scientist, has launched a self-oriented, non-profitable, private, charitable, and non-governmental “Narayan Consultancy” to give free technical knowhow on Veterinary Mycology (a neglected area of biological science), especially to the scientists of poor resource nations. Due to his pioneer, immense, rich and long-lasting experience of over four decades, Prof. Pal is considered as “Indian Father of Veterinary Mycology”. He has not formed any NGO, and also not sought any financial support from anybody in the world. His only net connectivity with the outside world is with the help of his laptop with Wi-Fi connection at his own residence in India. His main mission in life is just to disseminate his 46 years knowledge, which he acquired by the blessing of God. The agency will be happy to help the needy and truly genuine academicians who wish to pursue their career in the field of animal mycoses. The Narayan Consultancy is a one-man based indigent agency, which has no resources to give any fiscal support to teachers/ researchers. The prime objectives of Narayan Consultancy are as follows:

1. To render technical advice to prepare short term and long term research schemes on veterinary mycology
2. To assist the postgraduate and doctoral students in their research projects on animal mycoses
3. To assign the title of seminars for the students working for MSc and Ph.D. degrees
4. To help the University/Institute to organize National or International Conferences/Symposia on Veterinary Mycology
5. To provide information to arrange training programmes in the form of workshops on Veterinary Mycology

The students/teachers/scientists, who aspire to pursue their research in Veterinary Mycology, should furnish detailed information of the working place with postal address, email, any experience in Veterinary Mycology, laboratory facilities available, publication of papers in Mycology, and a letter from the Head of the Institute regarding interest and work potential etc.

The Narayan Consultancy is not under any obligation to entertain all the requests. It but assures that genuine candidates will receive the necessary inputs to advance their research career in Veterinary Mycology.

If any organization wish to have his personal visit for a short time, all expenditure including return flight fare, lodging, boarding, local transport etc. will be borne by the host.

It would be an honour to provide our scientists, academicians and researchers diligent services, and the services would hopefully continue in the event of enthusiastic volunteers coming for war to keep up the goal for benefitting the global scientific community.

Email ID of Prof. Dr. Mahendra Pal is: palmahendra2@gmail.com